Let me talk about my best friend named Jenny. I met my friend in high school. So, we have been friends for almost 20 years now. She is down to earth and easy going. I like her personality because she is very optimistic. I also like to talk to her about my daily life because she is a good listener and always gives me practical advice.

Jenny and I share many interests and we have a lot in common, yet we are different in some ways. For example, we both love going to the movies, but we have totally opposite tastes. My friend enjoys romantic comedies whereas I only watch action-thrillers. The most awkward situation happens when we eat out. Jenny is a seafood person, but I am not. So, it takes a long time to choose a menu. The last difference I can think of is our way of shopping. My friend spends most of the time looking around the kitchen appliances section while I only check out the fashion items.

But I still love my friend because she is such an important person to me. Overall, my friend and I have some similarities but many differences as well.

Well, I like visiting my uncle who lives in Busan. Because Busan is a famous vacation spot with beautiful beaches, I try to visit my uncle when I get time off.

I remember when I visited my uncle a few years ago. I took the bullet train and it took me about two and a half hours. It was quite tiring, but everything changed as soon as I saw my uncle. After we dropped my bag, we took the subway to the main streets of Busan. After that, he took me to a famous restaurant which I always wanted to try because they received good reviews from their customers. When we walked into the restaurant, it was full of people. Because of its popularity, we had to wait 30 minutes to be seated. The food was great probably because we were all very hungry. After eating, we went to Haeundae Beach. We set off some firecrackers and had a great time together. We also walked along the beach and took some pictures. Overall, I had a really great time in Busan, and it was definitely the best trip I have ever had.

3. 가족/친구와 이야기하는 이슈

Well, I normally talk to my friends about various issues. We normally talk about what we've been doing. We also talk about special events that have happened and life in general. We talk about careers, relationships, and even personal issues. We also ask questions to catch up on new events that happened in our lives or to ask for advice when we have any kinds of problems.

All of us are interested in getting a job these days, so whenever we meet up, we talk about job hunting. I already graduated last year, but I am between jobs./I am currently working for __ as a manager. I have been working for this company for __. I want to get a promotion this year.

So, whenever I meet up with my friends, we talk about these issues. Spending time with my friends always cheers me up. That's it. Overall, having conversations with my friends helps me get rid of the stress from my daily life.
