1. 우리나라의 재활용

Recycling is mandatory in Korea. So, if you don't recycle, you will be fined. There is a designated bag that you have to use. You can buy it at any convenience stores or supermarkets. Normally, people put the food waste and general waste there.

Plus, there are recyclables (recyclable items) such as paper, cans and even plastics.

People normally take out the garbage at least once a week. There's a designated area outside the apartment or house where you can to put your garbage. And then, the city usually collects them every single week.

That's how it is. Once again, recycling is mandatory in Korea and well-practiced.

It has become a routine that everyone keeps.

2. 개인적으로 재활용하는 방법

I always try to do my best to recycle. I keep separate trash cans for food waste, general waste, and of course, recyclable items. This way, I can simply separate the trash into different types when I am done with the dishes. There is a designated area for garbage disposal beside my apartment. I usually collect the waste until the garbage bag is nearly full, and then I take it out in the morning when I'm leaving for work. Although it was difficult/annoying at first, it has become a habit now. So, it's not difficult after all. Overall, I feel great because I am doing something for the community.

3. 어렸을 때 했던 재활용과 지금의 재활용 비교

When I was younger, I lived with my parents. Back then, I never had to recycle. Sometimes, my mom told me to take out the garbage, but it was usually non-recyclable waste. Because of this, I didn't know how to recycle. The first time that I had to recycle was when I went to college and started to live alone. One time, I took out a garbage bag which was filled with both recyclables and regular trash and my neighbor taught me how to recycle properly. It was an embarrassing moment, but I learned how to recycle after that incident. Now, recycling has become my new habit and I even think about its positive effect on the environment. I am glad to help the community.
