I make different kinds of appointments depending on what I need. I make doctor's appointments or dentist's appointments when I am sick or need a check-up. If there's something wrong with my health, I always go see a doctor right away. I like to get an appointment because I don't have to be annoyed by waiting in line for a long time. Also, because of social distancing, I try not to go to places where there are a lot of people. Making an appointment always helps. On the other hand, I make regular appointments with my stylist because I like getting my hair done. I often get a perm and change the color of my hair because I feel more confident when I get a new look. Although some places offer walk-in services, I prefer making appointments ahead of time to avoid a long wait. That's it. Overall, I make different kinds of appointments depending on what I need.

I remember when I made an appointment with a dentist to get my teeth cleaned. I thought I had been taking good care of my teeth by brushing regularly. Unexpectedly, when my dentist looked at my teeth, he told me that I had a small cavity in a wisdom tooth. Knowing that it would hurt, I did not want to get my wisdom tooth pulled. However, since I had a cavity, my dentist recommended getting it removed. So, I ended up getting my wisdom tooth removed, and I couldn't eat regular meals for a few days. Well, that's how it was. That was the last appointment I made.

The most memorable incident I've had is when I made an appointment with my stylist. I needed to get my hair done first thing in the morning because I had to get my graduation picture taken that day. There was a salon where I was a regular customer at. I decided to go there as usual because they know what kind of style looks good on me. However, when I arrived at the salon, all the doors were locked, and the lights were turned off. I decided to wait for my stylist. But she did not show up for about 15 minutes, so I decided to give her a call. When I called her, she told me that she had a car accident and broke her arm. Since I have always gotten my hair done by her, I decided to postpone my graduation picture until after she was recovered.

Well, that's the most memorable incident I had at the salon.
