1. 우리나라 호텔 묘사

Hotels in Korea are similar to other hotels you would find anywhere else. Hotels are located almost everywhere in Korea, especially in Seoul. Most of the big international hotel chains are located on the main streets, and smaller hotels are located on the back streets. The larger hotels often have coffee shops, restaurants, and even wedding halls. The smaller hotels are more basic but are often much quieter. In my case, I go to a big hotel to eat or have some tea with my friends and go to a small hotel on business trips or when I just need a place to sleep for a day. Overall, no matter where you want to stay in Korea, you can easily find a place to stay.

2. 호텔 체크인 과정 설명/하는 일

The first thing I do when I get to a hotel is checking in at the front desk. I usually give them my name which I use for making a reservation. The people at the hotel are normally very friendly. After I get the key to my room, I look at the advertisements about the places to visit in the area. Then, I leave the lobby and make my way to my room. When I get to the room, I find a place for my luggage and then check to make sure that everything is clean and in order. If there are any problems, I contact the people at the front desk right away. After spending the whole day traveling and walking around, I come back to my room and take a shower. Then, I try to get some rest. Well, that's it. That's what I usually do when I get to a hotel.

3. 가장 인상 깊었던 호텔 경험

The last time I stayed in a hotel was when I traveled to the mountains in the center of Korea. The hotel was very large, and there were many couples, friends, and of course, parents with little children. The weather had just started warming up, and it was perfect for hiking. I remember the first day I stayed there. I started my hike early in the afternoon. The view from the mountain was magnificent and scenic. There were many tall trees and flowers along the way. By the time I made it to the top of the mountain, it was almost dark. I didn't think I could make it back to the hotel. Luckily, one of the hotel's security guards found me and gave me a ride back to the hotel. He told me that many guests make the same mistake, but I was still a little embarrassed. I still talk about this experience with my friends from time to time. That's probably the most memorable experience I've had while staying at a hotel.
